

About Qyooz

At Qyooz we are delivering a special kind of CRM. We are making the customer-vendor relationship sustainable and helping companies move away from the ineffective transactional sales approach. We are all about continuous and strong relationships and we support this within our team philosophy. We challenge ourselves to challenge the product to create a stage of mutual growth.

As a Tech Lead you will be responsible for a development team working on maintaining and improving our product, therefore have a direct impact over the customer experience and satisfaction.

Your Role

Tech Lead (m/f/d) 40h/week

- Be responsible for the development team alignment and task delivery
- Support the team in a hands on programming
- Develop your team members through mentoring and pair coding sessions
- Have a long-term vision on the product architecture and dev strategy
- Oversee and manage the daily operations to make sure they are compliant with the set standards
- Set clear goals, monitor performance and encourage engagement

Your Profile

- 5+ years experience with Java, JavaScript
- Degree in Computer Science or similar
- Strong team management and communication skills.
- Great understanding of system architecture and analytics systems
- Problem solving and analytical skills, direct hands on approach and critical decision making
- Fluency in English

Benefits

Competitive Salary ● An international work environment with amazing colleagues ● Supportive co-working environment ● Fun team events ● Office snacks and lemonade