

About Qyooz

At Qyooz we are delivering a special kind of CRM. We are making the customer-vendor relationship sustainable and helping companies move away from the ineffective transactional sales approach. We are all about continuous and strong relationships and we support this within our team philosophy. We challenge ourselves to challenge the product to create a stage of mutual growth.

As a Software Engineer , you will be a major part of bringing Qyooz to its best version so far. You will have a high impact on the customer development and product optimization.

Your Role

Junior Software Engineer (m/f/d) 32-40h/w

- Design and implement software enhancements and updates
- Work intensively on customer customization requests
- Communicate and collaborate with outsourced development partners regarding customer customization and implementation
- Work closely with the business development team and the stakeholders for improving and implementing existing and new functionalities for achieving great customer experience.

Your Profile

- You have sufficient knowledge in some programming language (Java, Javascript, Python).
- Good knowledge in SQL
- You enjoy solving complex problems and diving into new challenges
- You are excited about working within a team with a hands on mentality and active collaboration approach
- You define yourself as a problem solver
- Fluency in English

Benefits

Competitive Salary ● An international team ● Supportive co-working environment ● Home office ● Fun team events
● Office snacks and lemonade